HITLER SAYS ATTEMPTED COUP CRUSHED

Traitor Clique Wiped Out or Arrested, He Tells Army

TRUMAN WINS NOMINATION ON SECOND BALLOT

Democratic Vice Presidential Nominee Expected To Do Most of Campaigning.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 22—The Democratic party called on a vigorous practical politician today in Harry S. Truman of Missouri, its new vice presidential nominee, to carry the fight to the Republicans in a campaign for a fourth White House term for President Roosevelt.

The 60-year-old piano-thumping senator, whose grin is kindled by wide blue eyes behind thick-lensed spectacles, beat Henry A. Wallace to the second place nomination in an eight-hour windup session of the Democratic national convention yesterday. With the job he inherited the task of conducting a campaign for which the President said he had little time.

Just as Mr. Roosevelt's selection for a fourth term was kept from being unanimous by 89 votes for Sen. Harry F. Byrd and one for James A. Farley, so the nomination of the chunky chairman of the senate's war investigating committee went into the records with this count:

For Truman, 1,031; Wallace, 105; Justice William O. Douglas of the supreme court; Gov. Prentice Cooper of Tennessee, 26; Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, six; Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, one. Three of 1,176 delegates were absent.

Strife Marks Voting

The vice presidential balloting, which began on a bitter note of strife between the CIO political action committee and the big-city Democratic chieftains who have had a great deal to say about party affairs in the last 12 years, ended on a publicly harmonious pitch.

But there remained a note of Dixie dissent, perhaps most clearly expressed by Sen. Kenneth D. McKellar of Tennessee, who arose to complain that his state's 26 votes remained to the last recorded for Governor Cooper.

McKellar's protest was lost in the banging of Chairman Samuel D. Jackson's gavel, which dented the speaker's stand earlier in the day in attempts to quell demonstrations from the galleries for Wallace, apparently touched off by CIO sympathizers.

It was, admittedly, a test of strength between the adherents of Wallace, who had received a lukewarm indorsement from the President, and the men like Mayor Edward Kelly of Chicago, national committeeman Edward J. Flynn of New York and Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, who like their politics uncomplicated.

See-Saw Battle

The Kelly-Flynn-Hague combination, aided by Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, won in a see-saw battle that Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO political action committee, had predicted would find Wallace victorious.

The south, led by Oklahoma in the southwest which made the first break toward Truman, provided in a pinch the necessary votes to put the Missourian over after a first ballot on which Wallace, who remained in a downtown hotel, rolled up 429½ votes. Truman had 319½ on the initial count and the rest were divided between 14 also-rans.

The breaks came fast on the second roll call, and the futile din of gallerites—some of whom were University of Chicago and Northwestern university students too young to vote—could not stem the tide against Wallace.

Tossed aside after a four-year Washington career, the Iowan had only kind words for the new ticket.

Wallace Pledges Support

"Of course," said the man who will be vice president until next January, he would support the ticket.

"The cause of liberalism has been been advanced," he added. He had pitched his campaign for a place on the November ballot largely on the contention that he

CONDITION IMPROVING

The condition of Common Pleas Judge Hector S. Young, who underwent a major operation in Mt. Carmel hospital at Columbus, Thursday, is reported to be improving. According to the attending physician Judge Young is "getting along just fine," Mrs. Young, who is with her husband at the hospital, told members of the family here late last night. The Young home is at 203 Kensington place.

Huge Russian Forces Pushing Warsaw Drive

By DANIEL DE LUCE
AP War Correspondent

MOSCOW, July 22—Red army tank and infantry forces, making a supreme bid for Warsaw, rolled back German rearguards today on a jagged, 200-mile battle line, and front dispatches said some Soviet forces were only 90 miles from the Polish capital.

At the same time the German position in the Baltics grew worse hourly, as Col. Gen. Ivan I. Maslennikov's troops captured Ostrov, cleared 17 miles of the Ostrov-Pskov railway and left Pskov, 35 miles north of Ostrov, in an untenable salient. Tishina, seven miles from Latvia's northeastern boundary, was occupied.

The Red tide poured through dozens of beaches in the makeshift German line onto the Polish plains, where Hitler once swaggered in victory, and where now his troops faced disaster.

Grand Thrust on Warsaw

The battle for Warsaw developed from these giant thrusts by Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's apparently inexhaustible offensive:

After cutting the Bialystok-Brest Litovsk railway at Czeremcha, 95 airline miles northeast of Warsaw two days ago, Soviet units were reported to have advanced at least five miles.

Other Red army forces were forcing a ring of steel around Brest Litovsk, 90 miles east of Warsaw, after mopping up German pockets to the southeast, including Vielkoryta, 18 miles distant on the Brest Litovsk railway.

Leaving the western Bug nine or more miles behind, Red army veterans routed the Germans from Sawin, 36 miles east of Lublin, and a fortress 62 miles from the head waters of the Wisla (Vistula) and 124 miles southeast of Warsaw.

The Sawin victory outflanked the German strongpoint of Chelm, 10 miles southeastward.

Elsewhere in the east the German generals still taking orders from the Nazi hierarchy were buf-

MANY ILLUSTRIOUS FIGURES BELIEVED VICTIMS OF PURGE

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 22—Adolf Hitler asserted in an order of the day to German troops today that an attempted coup d'etat by "a small circle of unscrupulous officers" had been crushed, and expressed confidence the army "will fight with exemplary obedience and loyalty until victory is ours in spite of all."

"By immediate and vigorous action by loyal officers and men of the army at home, the traitor clique was wiped out or arrested in the matter of a few hours," Hitler said.

"A small circle of unscrupulous officers had made an attempt to murder me and the general staff and to seize power in the state," but "providence caused the attempt to miscarry."

His order, an obvious attempt to reassure his own followers in army ranks and to discourage any further revolt, came as press and eyewitness accounts indicated that nowhere had the enemies of Hitler succeeded in seizing power or taking over key positions.

Purge Proceeds Rapidly

A rapid, bloody and ruthless purge apparently had stamped out the rebellion. Reports reaching Stockholm said that perhaps 100 generals or high officers had been executed. Travelers to Sweden said more than 1,000 persons had been arrested through Friday.

(An NBC broadcast from London declared Field Marshal Rommel had been forced to change two armored division commanders in Normandy for "political reasons." The two divisional generals were replaced, before the Thursday attempt on Hitler's life, by "two juvenile political colonels, both under 33, who have a record of fanatical Nazi loyalty," the broadcast said.)

A dispatch, clearing through Berlin censorship to Der Bund at Bern, Switzerland, today said any effort at revolt could be considered to have collapsed. Government quarters in the German capital were blocked off Friday "by troops of the army and armed SS for many hours, presumably to carry out purge measures," the dispatch said.

Secrecy Cloaks Development

A welter of rumors concerning the attempted coup persisted but reliable information was difficult to obtain through the cloak of Nazi secrecy.

Indicative of this, 12 Germans reached Stockholm by plane from Berlin today, but were put under close watch by two Gestapo men attached to the German legation. The Germans avoided questioning by newspapermen.

Through Switzerland came an unconfirmed report that the gestapo may have slaughtered some of the most illustrious figures in the army, all long-time foes of the Nazi regime.

These were said to include Field Marshals Walther von Brauchitsch, Karl Gerd von Rundstedt, Sigmund Wilhelm List and Fritz Erich von Manstein—none of whom has been heard from since Berlin announced two days ago that Adolf Hitler narrowly had escaped assassination.

Two reports, wholly unconfirmed, indicated unrest in the German navy as well as the army.

Naval Rebellion Reported

Radio France in Algiers quoted reports from Basel that it was believed there that naval units at Kiel and Stettin had rebelled. The Brazzaville radio reported unrest among naval units in Norwegian ports and said an organization called "the Fraternal Association of All German Sailors" appeared to be behind the movement.

A Madrid dispatch said one report from a German embassy source there indicated certain army elements had revolted in

Prisoners Say Nazi Generals Want To End War Quickly

CAEN, FRANCE, July 22—Newly captured German prisoners, commenting on the attempted assassination of Hitler, said today they long had known of a bliter quarrel between the fuehrer and the German high command.

"The generals want to get Hitler out and make a quick end of the war," said Cpl. Werner, 19, of Munster, member of an elite Nazi division. He was captured at 7 p. m. yesterday near Cagny.

"Of course the whole thing may be a fake to whip up sympathy of the German people for Hitler. Many of our people are sick to death of the war but when they hear the leader narrowly escaped death they say, 'what a terrible thing to attack our poor dear fuehrer!'"

Asked how he felt personally about Hitler, Werner stiffened his shoulders and a fanatical gleam entered his eyes.

"I put everything on him," he said, "I know things look bad for us, but I still think the fuehrer has some secret great weapon that will win the war for Germany."

He added that the German people were too afraid of the Gestapo to voice their feelings.

AIR ASSAULT HITS REFINERY

Explosions and Fires on Big Pardubice Oil Plant Near Prague.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 22—British Mosquitos kept the air assault on Germany rolling overnight by bombing Berlin while Italian-based bombers struck into Czechoslovakia for the second time in less than 24 hours and hammered an oil refinery at Pardubice, 60 miles east of Prague.

A large explosion and fire was reported seen in the Pardubice refinery, the fifth largest in Europe outside Romania.

Bad flying weather across the English channel apparently grounded the heavy home-based bombers of the RAF and threatened to bring to a halt the week-long series of massive day raids from the west.

Black smoke drifted today from the great synthetic oil plant at Brux in Sudetenland—the largest producer of synthetic motor fuel in German-occupied Europe—which was attacked yesterday by up to 500 heavy bombers.

RAF bombers made the first attack of the war last night on the Pardubice refinery. Seventeen Italy-based planes were missing from these and other operations against enemy communications in northern Italy and Yugoslavia and 12 enemy aircraft were destroyed.

The rain which has bogged air and ground operations on the Normandy battle front continued intermittently through the forenoon today and by midday there had been no reports of air activity over the English channel.

This is a recent close-up view of Senator Truman.

Americans And British Close In on Florence

By The Associated Press

ROME, July 22—Fifth and Eighth army troops closed steadily in on Florence from three directions today with advance infantry elements only 14 miles from the historic city's edge directly to the south.

In this closest thrust, the Fifth army captured Tavernelle and the neighboring towns of Barberina Dal D'elsa and Capanne.

An American column advancing through the Elsa valley toward the Arno river line captured Castel Fiorentino, 17 miles southwest of Florence, and British troops of the Eighth army, fighting in the area of San Giovanni in the upper Arno valley, were 18 miles to the southeast.

On the west coast American pa-

ALLIES BOGGED IN NORMANDY

No Advance Reported in Last 24 Hours; Only Patrols See Action.

By The Associated Press

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, July 22—The vast allied military organization in Normandy bogged down in the mud of France today without a single advance being reported to the supreme command in the past 24 hours.

The war's briefest communique for an operation as great as the allied invasion summed up the situation in five words: "There is nothing to report."

The only change reported was the loss of Esquay, southwest of Caen, between the Orne and Odon rivers. The supreme command's report did not state whether the loss was due to German action or whether the town merely was abandoned to no-man's land because it is in low ground.

Conflicting Dispatches

In the lull the supreme command checked battle reports and found conflicting field dispatches had led to some erroneous beliefs which were passed on to press conferences.

The re-checks showed the Germans still held Maiot between the Orne and Odon, that it is not clear whether St. Martin de Fontenay is in allied or German hands, that Noyers still is held by the Germans as is nearby Monts, and that the Germans still are astride the Bayeau-St. Lo road at Berigny.

A supreme command spokesman stressed that these towns were not lost through enemy action but that reports of their capture had resulted from garbled or misinterpreted field advices.

Combat patrols were active overnight along the American sector of the front, and the Yanks reported inflicting casualties on the Germans in numerous small arm clashes.

Roads Mired

Secondary roads still were so mired and slippery they were more of a traffic hazard to supply columns than the enemy's periodic artillery bursts.

The Germans made no attempts to advance although the cloud cover gave them opportunity to bring up more reinforcements.

The allied tactical air forces were grounded completely for the first time since D-day.

Although superior in men and material on the ground, Montgomery has been unable to advance his ground forces for any deep penetration since Tuesday, when allied planes blew a "corridor" in the German defenses.

YANKS TIGHTEN GRIP ON GUAM

Troops Move Inland; Tokyo Reacts by Announcing New Jap Cabinet.

By The Associated Press

Two strong American landing forces converged along the west central coast of Guam today in a move that threatened to cut off the island's principal harbor, Port Apra.

In Tokyo, 1,500 miles away, the Japanese government reacted to the newest in a series of reverses by selecting its first new cabinet since the attack on Pearl Harbor.

The American soldiers and Marines who landed on Guam Thursday quickly established mile-long beachheads on both sides of Port Apra, War Correspondent John R. Henry reported.

A communique from Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' headquarters announced that good beachheads had been secured and additional troops were being landed against light initial resistance.

Casualties Moderate

"The troops advancing inland are meeting increasing resistance in some sectors," the communique added. "Our casualties are moderate."

The Tokyo radio acknowledged the landings, but claimed that 1,100 Americans were killed at one landing beach and that "tremendous losses" had left the invading forces in "helpless disorder." The broadcast said heavy fighting was continuing.

The Japanese estimated the American landing force at a division and a half—more than 20,000 men—with 150 tanks.

Japan's militarists tightened their grip upon the empire by installing a new cabinet with Gen. Kuniaki Koiso, former governor-general of Korea, as premier, and Adm. Mitsumasa Yonai as navy minister and "temporary deputy prime minister."

Fits Tojo Pattern

Koiso is an expansionist of the same pattern as his predecessor, Gen Hideki Tojo, whose government resigned five days ago when the Japanese acknowledged the

METAL PRODUCTS CO. LEASES MORE SPACE

Will Use Part of Defiance Plant; Has Purchase Option.

The Marion Metal Products Co. has leased space in the factory of the Defiance Pressed Steel Co., and will shift some of its machinery and manufacturing operations to the Defiance company's building on Cheney avenue in the next few days, company officials announced today.

In connection with the move, company officials also disclosed they have acquired an option on controlling stock in the Defiance Pressed Steel Co. with plans to completely absorb that company and its plant, if developments in the next few months warrant.

For the time being, the lease arrangement will serve to provide factory facilities for the expanded production of the Marion Metal Products Co. and at the same time make use of part of the Defiance Pressed Steel Co. factory space that is not now being used because of diminished operations there. However, the Defiance company will continue to carry on its war production work and maintain its present employe force.

No immediate changes in the executive officers of either company will result from the changes under the lease arrangement, G. E. Herr vice president and general manager of the Marion Metal Products Co., will direct the activities of that company's work at its present plant on Monroe street, as well as its work at the Defiance Pressed Steel Co. factory. H. J. Smith, vice president of the Defiance Pressed Steel Co., will continue to direct that company's activities.

If the Marion Metal Products Co. exercises its option to acquire control of the Defiance company, the latter's company's plant is expected to be put to full use in the development of the Marion Metal Products Co.'s post-war program, along with the continuation of its present facilities on Monroe street.

The Marion Metal Products Co. has been operating in Marion for 20 years, manufacturing chiefly hydraulic hoists, truck dump bodies and in peace time, burial vaults. The Defiance Pressed Steel Co. moved here from Defiance, O., several years ago, has operated an industrial stamping business serving chiefly other industrial concerns.

Rumors of New German Government Broadcast

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 22—A Moscow broadcast today quoted Radio Atlantic as saying a new German imperial government had been formed.

Radio Atlantic is a clandestine German-language station which long has carried on an anti-Nazi propaganda campaign and whose location and connections never have been disclosed.

Two U. S. Subs, Including One in Exploit at Corregidor, Lost

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 22—Loss of two U. S. submarines, the Trout which slipped past Japanese shore batteries under cover of darkness to carry out vast amounts of gold from the treasury of the Philippine government, and the Tullibee was announced by the Navy today.

Both submarines are listed as overdue from patrol and presumed lost with their crews of about 55 officers and men on each vessel.

The losses bring to 27 the number of American submarines lost since the war started. All but four are listed as overdue on war patrol. Total naval losses now are 171.

All officers and men of the Trout were awarded the Silver Star by the Army for their daring operations in the Philippines early in 1942 when the submarine slipped into Corregidor to deliver badly needed aircraft ammunition before that fortress fell to the Japanese. The Trout at that time was commanded by Commander Frank Wesley Fenno Jr., who now has another command at sea, the Navy said.

At the time of her loss her skipper was Lt. Com. Albert H. Clark, listed as missing in action. His wife, Mrs. Mary Crane Clark, lives at Orinda, Calif.

The Tullibee was one of the newer submarines. She was commissioned in February, 1943, and was under command of Commander Charles F. Brindupke, whose wife, Mrs. Ann R. Brindupke, lives at Annapolis, Md.

The Trout was commissioned in November, 1940, and was one of the better-known submarines of the fleet.

She was credited at the time her crew was awarded the presidential unit citation in May, 1943, with having destroyed a total of 43,200 tons of enemy shipping and damaging 31,500 additional tons, including a hostile aircraft carrier.

The total amount of gold, silver and negotiable securities carried out of Corregidor aboard the Trout never has been disclosed. It included vast amounts of gold, silver and securities of the Philippine commonwealth gathered together by High Commissioner Francis B. Sayre and taken to Corregidor.

Still Needed In Our "E" BOND QUOTA

What Are WE Waiting For?
He's come back from the bloody battle of Saipan. He's faced death every moment of the way. Will he say, "I've done my part. I'm through"? Of course not! For he is an American fighting man. He'll go back again and again — until the job is finished.
Our job isn't finished yet, either. We've made our overall quota, yes; but, we little bond buyers—the $25, $50 and $100 bond buyers who should have the boys closest to our hearts have fallen down. Let's LEND our money as willingly as they offer their lives . . . and NOW!

Social Affairs

SOCIAL activities and business meetings of the Marion Women's Federated clubs, although at a halt for the summer months, have not been forgotten by program chairmen of the various clubs. Extensive plans are being made by the committees in charge for a more interesting and thought-provoking season. Several clubs have completed their program plans for the coming year.

The Quest club plans to resume its activities with a dinner meeting in October, with Mrs. A. T. Auer, president, as hostess. Current events will be stressed throughout the year's programs, and one meeting each will be devoted to the study of matters of note in America and Marion. Other programs will feature famous men and women in the news. Red Cross, Girl Reserve and Girl Scout activities, an evening of music and two plays.

MISS JOSEPHINE MANZO will be the official delegate for the local Zeta Theta chapter of Alpha Iota sorority at the State Conclave of the Alpha Iota sorority in Columbus today and tomorrow. Around 10 other members of the Marion chapter planned also to attend. Headquarters for the group are at the Deshler-Wallick hotel. Among the activities planned for today's session was a tour of the city in the morning followed by an afternoon business meeting and a banquet and dance for service men in the evening.

Mrs. Ralph Middleton entertained members of the O. B. club Thursday night in her home on Olney avenue. Mrs. Norval Foreman and Mrs. Milo Snyder were guests. Mrs. Foreman became a new member. High honors in cards went to Mrs. Willard Benson, with Mrs. Kenneth Davis winning the lone hand award and Mrs. William Davis the floating award. Mrs. Paul Keller was consoled. Mrs. Foreman and Mrs. Snyder were given guest awards. Lunch was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be with Mrs. William Davis of Owens street.

Mrs. Eileen Herrigal was presented a gift in honor of her birthday at a meeting of the Valdura club Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Myrtabelle Morris of 344 Congress street. Awards in euchre were won by Mrs. Morris, Mrs. Pauline Snyder and Mrs. Florence Everly. Mrs. Eva Baller was consoled. Mrs. Alfreda Ralston was a guest and also was presented a prize. The club will meet again in two weeks with Mrs. Millie Baker of Olney avenue.

Mrs. Mabel Barr entertained the Jolly Dozen club Thursday evening at her home on Silver street. Announcement was made of a picnic Aug. 3 at 6 p. m. at Lincoln park. Awards in bingo were won by Mrs. Celesta Clark and Mrs. Emma Wiles. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Dolly Elder of Mary street.

Mrs. Blanche Lewis of Park street entertained the Truccadora Euchre club Wednesday afternoon at her home. Mrs. Alfreda Ralston received first honors, Mrs. Lottie Hull, second, Mrs. Mytrabelle Morris, third and Mrs. Pauline Snyder, lone hand. Mrs. Pauline Irvin was consoled and Mrs. John Hartman was a guest.

Mrs. Donald Quaintance entertained Thursday evening at her home on Pearl street in honor of Mrs. Malcolm Paquin of Cleveland. Mrs. Paquin is the former Miss Betty Zahn. Guests included Mrs. Helen Bartz, Mrs. June Maag, Mrs. Helen Williams, Mrs. Mildred Highley and Mrs. Kathleen Gorenflo.

Miss Louise Cook On Waldo Club Program

Miss Louise Cook, county home demonstration agent, talked on exhibiting at the county fair at a meeting of the Waldo Victory Girls' 4-H club at the Waldo school Wednesday. Miss Cook also outlined the things required of each member at the local judging.

Miss Joan Shults and Miss Vera Lee Smith were chosen to represent the club at the Junior 4-H camp which will be held next week.

Following the business meeting the group went to the dam at Waldo for a picnic supper and swimming party.

And the Rain Too?

IT IS easy to understand why a political party tends to claim too much when it is doing the pointing-with-pride, but the Democratic platform is stuffed with palpable nonsense when it claims these things:

That the Democratic party provided employment before the war. Jobs are provided either by private enterprise, or by government with the people's money. The Democratic party never provided a single job, except a handful in its own organization.

That the Democratic party built the Army, Navy, Air Force and Merchant Marine. Those were built by the United States, and to say otherwise is to arrogate a dishonest credit, to say nothing of the insult to millions of citizens who worked as patriots, not as members of a party organization.

That the Democratic party won allies for the United States. The allies were won by the position, power and prestige of the nation, not by any political organization within the nation.

That the Democratic party worked out the grand strategy of the war and turned the tide of battle. The grand strategy was worked out by men, including professional militarists who are above partisanship—and by allies who must actively resent the absurd insinuation that they had anything to do with Democratic fortunes within this country.

That the Democratic party held the line against wartime inflation. To whatever extent the line has been held, it is to the credit of every citizen who has in any way recognized the obligation to prevent the chaos of a disordered national economy in wartime.

That the Democratic party has insured equitable distribution of food and other essentials. To the millions who have worked as patriotic citizens to do this job—as buyers, handlers, members of ration boards, publicists and, collectively, as patriots dealing with a wartime emergency—this is a claim so shockingly arrogant that its inclusion in the party platform simply cannot be excused as an excess of enthusiasm.

The platform makers did not claim that the party also made it rain, but that must have been an oversight. As it is, they have claimed so much that the party's valid claims are largely discredited by the most incredible display of guff ever foisted by cynical politicians on a supposedly naive electorate.

Tottering Symbols

HITLER, it appears, escaped an attempt on his life with nothing more serious than bruises and burns, but Tojo didn't get off quite so lucky. The axis symbols are having a rough time.

With Tojo out of the premiership, Japan has completed political acknowledgment of the emergency situation created by the relentless encroachment of Allied forces on the empire. Obviously, what Tokyo says officially about the cabinet change will conceal more truth than it will reveal, but just as obviously wartime cabinets are not made over without good cause.

Tojo is gone, and Hitler is going. Mussolini, the other axis symbol, already has been forgotten. It is clear that the symbols are useful only for purposes of referring to what is behind them. Tojo was arrogant militarism. Mussolini was the ranting opportunist. Hitler was—still is—the embittered schemer trying to get even with deceit, terror and ruthlessness.

These are the things the United Nations are fighting. The symbols are not the evil, but only the convenient names given to the evil. If the bomb had come a little closer, Hitler might not be alive today, but the things he represented cannot be destroyed by a bomb.

New Hands

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S inclusion in his acceptance speech of this statement cannot be disregarded: "It seems wholly likely that within the next four years our armed forces, and those of our allies, will have gained a complete victory over Germany and Japan, and that the world once more will be at peace—under a system, we hope, which will prevent a new world war. In any event, new hands will then have full opportunity to realize the ideals which we seek."

The language is plain—that if "within four years' the war is over, "new hands" will be given responsibility for post-war security. It is potentially an announcement of intent to turn over the burden of the presidency, if Mr. Roosevelt is reelected, to someone else; to remain in office for only the duration of the war, then to retire. Of all the things said and implied in the welter of words from the Democratic national convention, this is easily the most significant.

So They Say—

Nations can only maintain their existence by being prepared to risk it. Power politics, where weak nations are used as pawns, irrevocably lead to warfare.—Mme. Chiang Kai-shek.

Perhaps, if we are very successful against Germany, it (Pacific war) will end in 1945. But your guess is as good as mine.—New Zealand Prime Minister Pete Fraser.

It is youth who must inherit the tribulation, the sorrow, and the triumphs that are the aftermath of war—Herbert Hoover.

Today and Tomorrow

Attempt on Hitler's Life Seen as Culmination of Major Conflict Long Under Way.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE broadcasts of Hitler, Goering and Doenitz make it clear that we have now entered upon the final phase of the struggle for the control of the Nazi party and the German army. For the first time Hitler, the man who made the party and the army a single band of conspirators, has appeared in the role of a defendant. He was a big man in the role. Hitler himself described the attempt to assassinate him as the work of a "very small clique of criminal elements." Goering, in a speech from the ruins of Hitler's headquarters, referred to the attempt as "the work of a few traitors." And Doenitz, from the other end of Germany, declared that Goering had been appointed by Hitler to the German people "in an attempt to set up a new government."

The author of the attempt must have been powerful and numerous. For only important members of the German army could have got through to the kind of meeting where the attack was launched.

On the other hand, it is a reasonable inference that there is not a clear-cut struggle between the army and the Nazi hierarchy. For if it were, if the army were united, the Nazis would easily have been arrested or killed. The lines of conflict run through the army which is itself partly but not completely Nazified. If this is a correct inference, it is very important. For it does not foreshadow the elimination of a few Nazis, and then the appearance of a German Badoglio, some German general expecting to be treated as the representative of a purged and regenerated Germany.

Stronger Than Mussolini

Hitler's support within the German Army and the German nation is much deeper than Mussolini's ever was in Italy, and it is reasonably certain that we are seeing now the beginning of a German civil war. There are powerful forces on both sides. The Nazis are not just a clique who can be ousted without a fierce struggle; either are the instigators of the revolt the "extremely small clique" which Hitler said they were.

His own admissions go far to prove that they are a formidable force. By appointing Himmler and Guderian, "we will now at last" deal with those who "constantly attempt to sabotage." Why at last? Why did he not appoint Himmler sooner? Evidently because the opposition in the army to Himmler domination has for long been strong enough to prevent it.

"This time we will settle accounts in such a manner as we National Socialists are wont." Why this time? Why not sooner? Could "a very small clique of criminal elements" have prevented the Nazis from acting sooner? They must on the contrary be very powerful persons to have been tolerated by Hitler and to have held off Himmler, for so long.

Evidence of Strength

They are clearly a formidable movement within the army. Otherwise, how could they be "trying," as Goering said, "to spread confusion among the troops by issuing false orders—as a new government of the Reich or as usurpers"? What must be the condition of the German air force when Goering has to place all formations inside the Reich under his personal orders and most of the new appointee, Col. Gen. Stumpff, even he has to announce that "dispatch flights" do not necessarily mean carrying mail, but to the commands, "can be executed only with my or his permission." And how does it happen that Hitler, Goering is issuing the orders to the air force and not Generaloberst Doenitz similar orders to the chief of the army has had "supreme command"?

It has long been highly probable that when Germany was confronted with military disaster, the old army would attempt to save itself and Germany by throwing overboard Hitler and the Nazis. But the old army is no longer the old army, it has left to Hitler hoping to use him and to profit by it. Hitler, who is a cunning politician, has, however, entrenched himself within the army. The outcome, which now seems to be preparing, is that these two elements, entrenched with one another, will go down together in a bloody, ensconced death struggle. Goering has already given orders for German soldiers to shoot one another virtually on sight.

This is the way the monstrous Reich should end, in an implacable struggle among those who made it the terror of mankind. Their victims can never be as ruthless with them as they themselves, habituated in horror, will in desperation be with one another.

The Allies have not the slightest reason to shorten or mitigate this internal German struggle. For here are the makings of the only kind of defeat which can destroy not only the power but, what is even more important in the long run, the traditions of German militarism.

Allied Position

For the Allies there can be no central German government which they could recognize as capable of surrendering for the whole Reich. The Nazi soldiers and their fanatical leaders cannot be surrendered by nominally non-Nazi generals. They will take to the woods and the hills and the cellars and fight on. As Germany breaks up, the rule of unconditional surrender will have to be interpreted as applying to regimental, divisional, corps commanders who can in fact deliver into our hands as prisoners of war specific formations of German troops. Separately, in bits and pieces, we can offer them an end to battle and then the treatment stipulated in international law.

Let us consider nothing as surrendered which is not physically in our hands.

But we should not accept or encourage the idea of one general surrender: for no German authority which wishes to surrender will be much more capable than was Badoglio of giving effect of the surrender. Many separate surrenders, on the other hand, will mean that each unit which wants to surrender will have to fight its own way out of the Nazi power, and in this struggle, only by this struggle, will German Nazism and German militarism become thoroughly disgraced, demoralized and disintegrated.

Penicillin, Miracle Drug

By Frank Carey

Associated Press Science Writer.

This is the first of two stories on penicillin. The second story, containing much unpublished matter concerning new uses and sensational cures, will be published tomorrow.

PENICILLIN, now made available to civilians on a restricted basis, is a miracle of production rivalling the amazing accomplishments of the drug itself.

Nineteen United States and two Canadian firms operating plants hastily erected at a cost of $20,000,000 are turning out about 200 times as much penicillin monthly as was produced a year ago. They have lowered the cost approximately 85 per cent in the meantime. By the end of 1944, present production rates (one hundred billion units in May) should again be doubled.

Penicillin succeeds where the sulfas fail. It has proved a lifesaver from hospital maternity wards to battlefront.

A year ago virtually all but a fraction of the then meager supply was allocated to our armed forces. Within the past few weeks the drug has been made available to thousands of civilian sufferers through allocations to some 2,000 "depot" hospitals.

It may be some time before it is available by prescription in drug stores, but this month the allocation to depot hospitals will reach a new high of 15 billion units for civilians—enough to treat 15,000 serious cases. (A unit of penicillin about covers the head of a pin.)

At the present rate of a hundred billion units a month, at least 10,000 cases can be treated, including civilians, our armed forces and allies, and patients in some neutral countries, also scheduled to receive small supplies.

Will Share with Others

Latest development in penicillin is this: For the first time, the domestic supply of the drug will be shared with foreign nations. Up to now they have received only occasional minute supplies for emergency cases. The United States produces 95 per cent of the world supply.

Recently South American republics were allocated 1,000,000,000 units. Arrangements are being made through foreign economic administration for export for restricted civilian use to European neutrals, the Middle East, French areas and other countries.

Under the program less than one per cent of our total production will be allocated for use abroad.

In a sense, large-scale production of the medicine outshines the production of ships and planes and tanks.

Builders of war arms worked with familiar materials, but the makers of penicillin had to deal with a material which as recently as 1941 was only a laboratory wonder—the chance discovery of a British scientist, Dr. Alexander Fleming.

At the outset all that was known about making the drug was that it was produced by the same type mold (penicilium notatum) which grows on stale bread and cheese. To produce it on a commercial scale, special processes had to be developed to grow the molds.

The Peoria, Ill., laboratory of the U. S. department of agriculture made a revolutionary contribution. Its scientists showed that the addition of corn seeping liquor to the medium used for the growth of the mold made it grow faster.

Change in Process

In the early stages of development, manufacturers grew the mold on the surface of liquid in bottles and flasks and trays.

Now the mold is grown in huge tanks.

But the production effort involved far more than whether to use flasks or tanks. It involved selection of the most fruitful strains of the mold, of which there are many thousands. It involved a constant fight against contamination. Hundreds of gallons had to be dumped because of impurities.

Here's another measure of the titantic task:

Approximately 50 different chemicals are needed to prepare the original "seed" of the mold and the culture medium in which it is grown. Millions of pounds of raw material a year are needed for growing the material, recovering it from the medium, getting it into useable form and testing it. Hundreds of mice and rabbits are needed for animal testing.

Refinements of technique have come into play within the past year. Latest one to be announced is a vacuum type oven for drying penicillin. It is designed to replace a dry-ice method, and developers say it cuts drying time from 24 hours to 30 minutes.

Rate of Production

One billion units of penicillin weigh only one pound. That makes present production about 100 pounds a month, a little over three pounds a day for the 21 plants.

But a little penicillin goes a long way. It requires only 100,000 to 150,000 units to treat a case of gonorrhea at a cost of about $5. A severe case of septicemia, or blood poisoning, would require about 1,000,000 units and cost about $35.

A year ago the cost of penicillin was $20 per 100,000 units (a rate of about $150,000 a pound), but today the average cost to civilians is about $4.50 for that amount.

The armed forces get it a little cheaper—$3.25.

Buying Back an Oversight

Admiral Perry Saw Value of Bonin Islands.

PROBABLE next stop for the Yankee express rumbling toward Japan from the southeast is the Bonin islands (pronounced bah-neen, with the accent on the second syllable.)

The islands already have been bombarded. They lie at the top of the chain of so-called "unsinkable carriers" with which Japan's military planners hoped to achieve security from naval attack—at the top, only 550 miles from the nearest point of Japanese coastline.

Their possession by the United States would put the offensive aerial campaign against Japan within striking distance comparable to that of England in relation to targets in Germany.

"Sea Power," discussing the islands' critical importance in its current issue, says: "The havoc which could be achieved within Japan by bombers based on the Bonins, only a short flight away, makes these islands crucial. . . . How strongly defended they are is not definitely known. No white observers have been permitted near them for more than 20 years. Their reputation as a highly fortified stronghold is certainly as great as that of Truk, the much respected Japanese naval base farther south which, when actually attacked by the American fleet in strength, proved not so formidable as expected. It would be unwise, however, to consider the Bonins as anything else than a tough nut to crack."

The story behind the Bonins, 20 in number, is vitally interesting to Americans. The islands were selected by Admiral Perry, who opened the Japanese empire to commerce in the middle of the 19th century, as the logical outpost of defense against what he foresaw as the consequences of his achievement. "The duty of prosecuting our vast and rapidly growing commerce," he warned "will make it not only a measure of wisdom, but of absolute necessity, to provide timely preparation for the events which must, in the ordinary course of things, transpire in the east."

ADMIRAL PERRY selected the Bonins because of their position at the approximate halfway mark between the Marianas, where United States forces have completed the seizure of Saipan, and the Japanese mainland. But nothing came of Admiral Perry's foresight. The Japanese claimed the islands in 1861. With mountains and land-locked harbors, they made an ideal naval station, though they are not large enough to be a major base.

Beyond Admiral Perry's interest in the islands lay the record of American ownership by right of discovery, reports Richard Shafter in "Sea Power." Thirty years before Perry's visit there in 1853, the skipper of the whaler Transit had stopped at the islands. They later were "discovered" by a British captain, despite the fact Perry found living on the islands two Massachusetts Yankees who had been there since 1830. However, to make the ownership of the United States double clear, Perry caused some of the islands to be formally annexed under the name of the Transit's captain, which was Coffin. Before he died in 1858, Perry repeatedly "assumed the responsibility of establishing a foothold in that quarter of the globe as a measure of positive necessity to the sustainment of our maritime rights in the east."

However, this government made no objection when Japan took formal possession in 1862, tracing the discovery of the islands back to 1624 when a Japanese navigator was blown off his course in a storm. In 1875, the United States renounced all American rights and so did Great Britain. The islands literally were given to Japan as a present by rival western powers which could not reconcile their own differences of opinion, or stand together in what ultimately was to be their common interest in the growth of Japanese naval strength.

In 1906 the Bonins (called Ogasawara islands by the Japanese) became even more important when the cable from Hawaii to Japan was laid with Chichi, the most important island, as a way station. The islands were used to advantage in World war I as a base for Japanese occupation of the Marianas, Marshalls and Carolines. Their importance was further attested in the naval restrictions negotiations after the war when Japan insisted on treating them as an integral part of its empire.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Elmer on Summer Resort Ceilings

OPA is investigating overcharging at our amusement resorts, following complaint exhorbitant prices for hotdogs, soda pop, sandwiches, etc. The action is not sympathy. Pleasure seekers at amusement parks eat too much. Nothing they stuff themselves with is necessary.

We think the dollar hotdog would be a good thing, with an extra two bits for mustard. Responsible for much of the irritability found at summer resorts.

But Elmer Twitchell is for ceilings on other items at the summer playgrounds of America. He wants the OPA to put a limit on what can be charged for picture galleries, graphs, batting houses, sideshow freaks and fortune tellers.

"I demand OPA protection at the picture galleries," he snapped today. "They are getting twice as much for a snapshot of me leering against a fake cabin cruiser as in pre-war days and I'm using the same face. When I squawk to the photographer what does he say? He says photography has gone to war! He tells me camera parts are hard to get, that all the best assistants are in Normandy and that the artist who painted the backdrop gets 50 per cent more than last year for the same waves, whitecaps and rocks."

Elmer was in a temper. "And take the bathhouses. They sock me more than ever for a locker, suit and towel, and when I ask why they say is, 'Don't you know there's a war on?'"

"There should be ceilings on fortune tellers, too. I paid fifty cents more for my fortune this summer than last summer. I insist that the shortage of tea leaves is bogus and that gypsies have to pay more for earrings and hair grease."

"They've upped the admission price to see the Two-Headed Boy. Why? Well, they claim there is a shortage of two-headed boys due to the war, but I am yet to see one in the Army or in a war plant."

"The Fat Lady is getting more money, and I can see some justice in that. It must cost her more to keep fat, but there is one amusement resort feature that should be punished by OPA at once."

"Who is that?" we asked.

"The lady sword swallower," said Mr. Twitchell.

"I paid 10 per cent more to get into the tent to see her and a flame eater. About the flame eater I'm not sure. Maybe flames are harder to get. But I denounce the alibi of the sword swallower as wholly without foundation."

"What alibi is that?"

"He had the nerve to tell me that swords are being rationed," concluded Elmer.

Smoked Out

By Truman Twill

A cigaret shortage has America puffing nervously on the next to the last one in the last package it could buy of its favorite brand on its latest trip to the tobacco counter. This may be the toughest Allied problem since robot bombs.

"Gimme a smoke," gulps Citizen A. "This is terrible. Gimme a match too. I left the whole works in my coat in the other room. I'll pay you back later. This isn't like the old days."

"Haven't got a match," announces Citizen B slapping his pockets. "Gave my matches to Ferret Face a minute ago. Give with the matches, Ferret Face, or I'll withdraw your priority."

So they all light up cigarets, all except Citizen C who does his smoking chain fashion and never needs new fire, except after supper and before breakfast. Citizen D, chewing the charred remains of a cigar, gave up cigarets two and a half years ago because his wife kept bumming them and he got tired of it, but he isn't out in the woods, either. Who knows what may happen to cigars?

Citizen E, not ordinarily mentioned in connection with his reliance on tobacco, is highly amused observed of all this consternation because years ago he decided it was more fun to ruminate than puff. Besides, as he explains when the question comes up, if someone didn't chew, the smokers would cover the earth with a ground haze that would shut off the sunlight.

He is about to come into his own, he predicts, because he can see as clearly as he can see a spittoon at 12 paces that the next big strategic move on the home front will be rationing of cigarets, but nothing will be done about chewing tobacco. All the signs are present—the scramble for dwindling stocks, the hoarding by ladies and gentlemen who aren't going to get caught short if they can help it, the conversational emphasis on the subject that spreads the panic, the skeptical acceptance of brands that couldn't have been given away the week before last. The hunted look in the eyes of the addicts who know they can't stand to be cut off and a suspicious interest in corn silk.

This is the gravest hour on the home front since coffee was getting short and civilization tottered; since butter was hard to get and butter eaters turned pale with terror; since that ghastly moment when the United Nations were threatened with defeat because in the arsenal of democracy whisky was getting low in the barrel.

This, fellow citizens, will be something to look back on from a safe place in the future. "Gimme a—no, on second thought, I'll just ask Old Faithful for a chew the next time he erupts. As they said in the Latin book, 'Moriturl te saluta mus'."

Window Washer Injured in Fall

Charles Merril, 23, of 1144 North Main street, suffered leg and back injuries when he fell from a second story window of the Palace theater building where he was working and landed on the pavement below about 9:30 a. m. today. He had been washing windows in the office of local draft board No. 3. Stunned by the impact, he was taken in the Edwin K. Smith ambulance to the City hospital, where it was reported the seriousness of his injuries could not be determined at once.

Mrs. Maye Adams, clerk of draft board 3, said the man had been working on other windows for about 15 or 20 minutes and had gone to the front of the building overlooking West Center street. He apparently lost his footing when he attempted to climb from one window to another on the outside. He tried to catch himself by holding on the screen, but the window screens swung toward the street and he was pulled off balance.

Mr. Merril, who worked independently and not as an employe of any local window washing firm, was working without a safety belt witnesses said.

OHIO DELEGATES SWING TO TRUMAN

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 22 — Ohio delegates made a belated rush to support the nomination of Sen. Harry S. Truman for vice president at the Democratic convention yesterday after splitting their votes among six candidates during the first roll call and three during the second.

An Ohioan—Martin V. Coffey of Middletown—seconded Truman's nomination but the Missouri senator failed to receive a majority of the 52 Buckeye votes in either balloting.

However, as the approval of other states rolled in to assure him nomination on the second try, Ohio caucused quickly, then switched its votes to Truman.

Until the very moment of the Missourian's victory, Jack Kroll, the CIO Political Action committee's Ohio representative, sought the delegation's backing for Vice President Henry A. Wallace.

On the first call, Ohio cast 24½ votes for Wallace, 19½ for Truman. The remainder was divided among Sen. Alben Barkley of Kentucky 2, Sen. Scott W. Lucas of Illinois 1, War Manpower Chief Paul V. McNutt of Indiana 2, Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn of Texas 2. One vote was absent.

Wallace and Truman each picked up two vote on the second call, cutting out Barkley and Lucas, while McNutt's total was boosted to three. One vote still was absent.

In his seconding speech, Coffee credited Truman with saving the lives of thousands of servicemen through the vigilant activities of his senate committee in investigating war production.

A. R. Liggett Named to Galion School Post

GALION, July 22—Albert R. Liggett was elected the new Junior High school principal at a special meeting of the Galion board of education last night. For the past three years he has been superintendent of schools at Pickerington. He replaces R. W. Patterson, who resigned to accept a position as principal of the senior high school at Toronto. Mr. Patterson had been principal of Galion Junior High school since 1940.

Mr. Liggett has had 13 years of administrative experience in Morrow and Fairfield counties. He is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati and received his masters degree at Ohio State university. He taught in the Mt. Gilead schools for five years and has a total of 18 years of teaching experience. He is married and has one son, 11 years old.

Farley Promises To Support the Ticket

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 22—James A. Farley, who opposed a fourth term nomination for President Roosevelt, will support him for reelection.

Continuing a party regularity of 35 years, Farley, former Democratic national chairman, announced at the close of the Democratic national convention yesterday his decision to support the ticket.

It was believed likely he would confine his support to a vote in November, as he did in 1940 when he opposed a third term nomination.

PAINESVILLE, O., July 22—Lake county sheriff's deputies today continued their search for missing Virginia Jewell, 21-year-old Mentor, O., Wave who disappeared Thursday night at nearby Mentor Beach park. She was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Jewell, while on furlough.

IT'S CONGRATULATIONS FROM FARLEY TO TRUMAN. Following his nomination for vice president by the Democratic national convention last night, Senator Harry S. Truman of Missouri receives the congratulations of former Postmaster General James Farley of New York, who proclaimed his support to the newly-named Roosevelt-Truman ticket. Truman Wanted To Be Back in Army Instead of Senator

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 22—Harry Truman wanted to put on a uniform; President Roosevelt said "No." So Truman now is the Democratic nominee for vice president.

Once, 10 years ago, he was sitting on a county court bench minding his own business. Politicians put him up for the U. S. senate with "We're going to lose this one anyhow" idea and Truman won.

Things like that have been happening to the 60-year-old Missourian for so long he has developed a special toothy grin to meet all experiences.

Mr. Roosevelt's fourth term running mate, victor over Henry Agard Wallace at last night's closing convention session, might be on a real battlefield today if it had not been for the President himself.

Senator, war investigator, politician notwithstanding, Truman would rather be a G.I. Joe. He got bitten by the uniform bug in '97 and as an artillery major did all right. He never got over it. When this current war broke in America's face, Truman wanted to resign from the senate and get behind the muzzle of an armor-piercing cannon again. The "Chief" heard about it, told Truman "you're more valuable in the senate" and talked him out of it.

So Truman went on to head up the senate war investigating committee.

Mr. Roosevelt let it be known himself that he thought Truman would strengthen his ticket. Perhaps that's what he had in mind.

Truman is almost the antithesis of the man he beat in the convention. He's a ready mixer; Wallace is somewhat shy and aloof. Truman would restore the old John Nance Garner atmosphere to the U. S. senate, sitting around and gassing with "the boys" in the office of Col. Ed Halsey, the secretary; having an occasional drink with Tom, Dick and Harry and quietly appraising the practical politics of a situation without any leapings to their visionary, future effects.

Truman and Wallace have one thing in common. They're made of rubber, physically. Truman does his relaxing in a Washington, D. C., apartment where wife and soprano-singing daughter keep house because, like most everyone else in that town, they can't find a maid.

WALLACE HAPPY DESPITE DEFEAT

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 22—Henry A. Wallace came up smiling today after losing the biggest battle of his political career.

"I'm happy about it—I really am," he told sympathizers who filed through his hotel suite last night.

He was happy, he explained, because he thought the fight he had made for renomination had advanced further the cause of political and economic liberalism which he espouses.

And he made it clear he would go all the way for the Roosevelt-Truman ticket this fall. If he felt that the President, by making known that Senator Truman would be acceptable as running mate, had contributed to his defeat, he gave no sign of it.

"I believe more strongly than ever that President Roosevelt is the voice of western liberalism for the world," he said in a dictated statement. "It is exceedingly important that that voice goes on. I hope all true liberals will do their part to see that the voice is able to carry on in 1945."

To Senator Truman he sent this message:

"Congratulations upon your enlarged opportunity to help the President and the people. Both of us will do our maximum for Roosevelt and what Roosevelt stands for."

Wallace had stayed away from the convention hall during the balloting on vice-president, secluding himself in his Sherman hotel rooms.

Gen. Kesselring Rumored Arrested in Purge

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 22—The Geneva newspaper La Suisse said today that Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring, German commander in Italy and rival of Marshal Erwin Rommel, was rumored to have been arrested on suspicion of complicity in the plot against Hitler, along with two generals and two colonels of his staff.

Officers Wouldn't Revolt Unless War Lost, Badoglio Says

By The Associated Press

ROME, July 22—Marshal Pietro Badoglio, commenting on the present events in Germany in an interview almost a year to the day after the coup which overthrew Mussolini in Italy, said today that "if a group of officers has revolted against Hitler it is because Germany has lost the war."

The veteran Italian soldier said there seemed to be no doubt that Germany had reached a turning point for two reasons—first, that evidently the German army no longer is able to stop the Russian offensives, and second, that Germany has no more reserves to throw into the fighting in Italy and Normandy.

Referring to the announcements that on the Russian front one army general and 23 other generals, among whom were corps commanders, had surrendered, Badoglio declared:

"If generals of that rank are caught, it is because the masses of troops in front of them either went over to the enemy or ran away."

Badoglio, one of the most prominent figures in Italy's surrender, said he believed a German revolt may have been planned by Field Marshal Karl Rudolf Gerd Von Runstedt and others of the same military tradition. He discounted the possibility of a peoples' rebellion.

"The only people in Germany are women, children, old men, and 10,000,000 foreigners, such as prisoners and forced laborers. All other Germans are in the army and a revolt must come there," he said.

$130,000 COLUMBUS FIRE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 22—One large building was destroyed and two others were partially demolished as fire swept an industrial section of the city's south side yesterday. Damage was said unofficially to exceed $130,000.

SUMMARY OF CONVENTION

The 29th quadrennial Democratic convention adjourned sine die at 9:20 p. m. EWT, Friday, after three days in which:

Franklin Delano Roosevelt was nominated for a fourth term by a vote of 1,586 to 89 for Harry F. Byrd of Virginia and one for James A. Farley of New York.

Sen. Harry S. Truman of Missouri was chosen for the vice presidential campaign by a vote of 1,031 to 105 for Henry A. Wallace; 26 for Gov. Prentice Cooper of Tennessee, six for Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, four for Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and one for Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt.

A 1,500-word platform was adopted, calling for a world organization to maintain peace, by force if necessary; a global free press, and domestically standing on the principals of the New Deal and the Roosevelt record.

Anti-New Deal southerners helped to beat Wallace, their only avowed accomplishment. Pleas to restore the two-thirds nominating rule in the convention and to write a "white supremacy" plank into the platform were turned down. The convention seated half of each of the "regular" and "rump" delegations which came from Texas, precipitating a bolt of 33 Texans and third party talk.

FLORENCE

trols probing the enemy's new defenses in the Arno valley reached a point within four miles of Pisa. Artillery duels raged between large concentrations of German guns on high ground north of the river and the Fifth army's long range guns.

On the Adriatic end of the battle line Polish troops pushed forward two or three miles and made contact with the retreating enemy four miles from the fishing port of Senigallia, at the mouth of the Misa river.

Interrogation of newest prisoners showed two or more Nazi divisions which were formed originally for the Russian front, had been brought to Italy and broken up to supply reinforcements. These brought to six the total of fresh enemy divisions rushed to Italy since the opening of the allied offensive May 11.

One new battalion was thrown into the line to rescue the 278th infantry division, which fell back from Ancona after losing 2,000 prisoners to the Poles.

Advance Along River

In the upper Arno river area Eighth Army units advanced three miles beyond Montevarchi and captured 50 more prisoners, while in the upper Tiber valley Indian troops repulsed 10 enemy counter-attacks in a single day.

Eastward in the Sentino river valley the towns of Perticana, Seegia and Sassoferrato were occupied.

MRS. MARTHA LEWIS DIES AT PROSPECT

Former Resident of Crestline, Marion; Funeral Sunday.

Special to The Star

PROSPECT, July 22 — Mrs. Martha Lewis, 88, died in the home of a niece, Mrs. C. P. Hess, at 1:30 p. m. yesterday after a long illness.

She became bedfast a year and a half ago and had lived at the niece's home since that time. Before that she lived 22 years in the home of Miss Olive Gurley at 408 South State street, Marion, and previously in Prospect and Crestline.

Born March 26, 1856 in Union county, she was a daughter of David J. Davis and Polly Ann Davis. March 7, 1878, she was married to Francis D. Lewis, who died in 1901. Her only child, a daughter, Mrs. Grace Lewis Decker, died in 1920. She was a member at Epworth Methodist church, Marion, and Circle No. 6 of the church.

Surviving are a half-sister, Mrs. Neil Hull of Prospect, and a half-brother, Chloie Lower of Marion.

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday at 3 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Hess by Rev. S. M. Ingmire, pastor of Epworth church. Burial will be in Prospect cemetery. Friends may call at the Hess home.

southern Germany and that fighting still was continuing.

Dr. Robert Ley, Nazi labor chief, declared in a broadcast address this morning to German armament workers that the fact Hitler "was saved does not mean the battle is won," then added:

"While German workers labor 12 and 14 hours without a Sunday or holiday, the idiotic nobility has nothing better to do than plot against our leader."

Berlin Guarded

Word emerged through Sweden of mass arrests in Berlin with large forces of SS (elite guard) troops ringing the capital and patrolling the streets in armored cars.

While the Nazis, through various broadcasts, claimed to have suppressed the revolt with at least two of the alleged ringleaders dead—Col. Gen. Ludwig Beck, former chief of the German general staff, and the Count von Stauffenberg, accused by Hitler of placing the bomb—a voice on the Frankfurt radio wave length, purporting to be that of an officer in the Wehrmacht, announced this morning that "action is continuing."

Identifying the man who paid with his life for planting the bomb as Col. Count Claus von Stauffenberg the broadcaster declared:

"Let Hitler know this much for certain—there is more than one Stauffenberg. Stauffenbergs are here in the thousands."

Goebbels Report

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels put out a story last night that insurgent generals attempted to grab vital lines of communication at the height of the plot—including lines direct to the front—and troops actually marched on government buildings in Berlin under "false" orders. According to Goebbels, the intervention of Hitler himself was necessary to calm the crisis.

Here in London, after nearly two days of sifting and examining a flurry of Nazi reports, there seemed to be general agreement that there was no question but that Germany was in the throes of a crisis—although every new report was treated with careful reserve.

Heart Attack Fatal To Upper Sandusky Woman

UPPER SANDUSKY, O., July 22—Miss Grace Sullivan, 63, died suddenly of a heart attack, at the Wyandot County Home at 8:30 p. m. Thursday. She had resided at the County Home for the past forty years.

Miss Sullivan was born at Kirby May 30, 1881, the daughter of Simon and Christine Albert Sullivan. She leaves two brothers, Simon Sullivan of Cleveland and Frank Sullivan of Lima.

Friends may call at the Bringman & Co. funeral home. Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Mary's church at Kirby and burial will be made in St. Mary's cemetery.

The suit was filed in circuit court here by an attorney who received instructions from Capt. Hewlett through the International Red Cross.

Hitler Can't Be Counted Out Just Because of Revolt

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

...the rebellion ... the revolt ... for the duration of ... the war.

It strikes me we must begin ... analysis of that vital query ... the second ... that this ... to the Berlin's side ... with Germany's pre... ...position creates ... situation in which anything can ...pen at any time.

However, we have a right ... the Nazi dictators, can... should prevent us from tre... Herr Hitler before the ... ideal.

The important factor now is ... how great may be the strength ... the Nazi party, at which the ... has been not only politi... but strategic leader. As remarked in yesterday's col... many of his followers still ...garded him as a messiah and this ...especially true of the fanatical young Nazis whose minds he has ...molded since their childhood.

Absolute Control

Perhaps no head of government ever had such absolute control as Hitler has had and still may have over his youthful disciples.

We get no aid from comparison between the present situation and the German revolt which helped end the last war so speedily. In 1918 the old kaiser didn't hold in his hand such countless thousands of youth who were prepared to sacrifice their lives in senseless and suicidal fighting as Nazi boys have done so many times. Also, the kaiser's reich was hungry, whereas Hitler's Germany still is well-fed. A full stomach can stand a lot of adversity.

It's upon the young fanatics that Gestapo Chief Himmler ("The Hangman") is depending in his bloody purge of those who oppose Hitler. Himmler's big army is composed of hand-picked Nazis. Under Hitler he is military ruler of Germany, with powers of life and death over the population, military and civilians. Opposed to him are the powerful Prussian militarists and their adherents, who have their bellies full of war which they know is lost already.

Don't Count on Collapse

Only time will tell where the greater strength lies. Maybe Hitler will collapse, but we have no right to assume this.

Because it's clear that Hitlerdom is disintegrating, and that the position is so critical that anything can happen at any time," we must recognize that this is the appointed hour to throw everything we have into dealing the death blow. As the London Times says, so long as Nazi leadership combines the efficient organization of food supplies with efficient methods of repression, there is no serious doubt of its ability to hold the situation at home. For the United Nations, adds the Times, the key still lies in military victory and in that alone.

That's sound talk. Fortunately the allied high command needs no coaching, as witness the hurricane of attack on all three fronts. We are pressing for the kill with a fury which Germany can not long withstand even if Hitler is able to counter the rebellion within his own ranks.

PRISONERS

ment that Heinrich Himmler had taken control of the home armies of Germany, the prisoner said, "I've got to admit I don't think much of Himmler. He's a butcher. If anybody steps out of line it's on the wall—they'll be shot."

Some of the prisoners have not heard the news, but they were eager to discuss it when I met them trudging back along the muddy road near the front to the prisoner-of-war cages.

"If Hitler were assassinated it would be a bad blow for Germany, but Goering would immediately take over," said Karl Eighteen, a lanky youth who once served at Hitler's bodyguard and fought on the Russian front.

"I know in my division there is a strong undercurrent of feeling against continuing the war. In the old days when we were winning, everything Hitler said went, but now the invasion has started we have been left in a terrible pickle. We feel the one big thing now is to get the war ... whether we win or not."

3-WEEK MONETARY CONFERENCE ENDS

By The Associated Press

BRETTON WOODS, N. H., July 22—The United Nations monetary conference, after three weeks of hard work, comes to an end tonight with the signing of documents for an international monetary fund and a world bank for reconstruction and development.

These two projects, which a conference resolution termed "important for peace and prosperity," subsequently will be put before the legislative bodies of 44 United and Associated Nations for approval.

They are expected to come before the American congress some time early next year.

Successful conclusion of the conference was reached late yesterday with an agreement for an $8,800,000,000 reconstruction bank whose purpose will be to make loans and guarantee those of private investors in post-war reconstruction and development projects.

The monetary fund, which also totals $8,800,000,000, is designed to promote international trade by providing foreign exchange, or currency, to those nations who may be short of it because they are unable to sell as much abroad as they import.

On the total bank capital, the United States will subscribe $3,175,000,000, the United Kingdom $1,300,000,000, the Soviet Union $800,000,000, China $600,000,000, and France $450,000,000, with the remainder apportioned among 39 other nations in varying amounts.

The convention will close with a dinner and plenary session tonight at which Treasury Secretary Morgenthau, president of the conference, and Lord Keynes, head of the British delegation, will speak.

[illegible] defeated the [illegible] in the first game of [illegible] at Marion's Ballpark, [illegible] 10 runs [illegible] errors while [illegible] hits.

[illegible] Red Wings [illegible] the cellar on 12 [illegible] Pace, [illegible] of seven [illegible] By the third inning [illegible] looked like a [illegible] the boys [illegible] four runs off him with but one man out but he pitched through [illegible] on a grounder and a fly to left ending the inning.

The Red Birds started off with a bang as they scored two runs in the first on three singles and a sacrifice and followed up with two more in the fourth. They combined three singles with two errors, to overtake the Cubs who were leading 4-2

Busy Sixth Inning

In the sixth they hopped Pace for a triple and a single but an error by Jeski with it and scored three more runs to rout Art from the ball game. The change of pitchers, however, didn't seem to be the answer to the problem as Lima scored eight more runs off Pace in the next three innings. One run came in the seventh as they put a single, a sacrifice, an error and a wild pitch together to tally their eighth run. They scored three more in the eighth on one hit, a triple, two errors, a walk and sacrifice

Lima didn't stop there, however, and scored four more in the final inning as the first man up singled. Schmiedeke tripled and scored on Kuhlman's error of Zernia's fly ball. Mendizabal then tripled to right field scoring Zernia, and came in as Smith grounded out, short to first.

In the third inning the locals solved Wiesler's slants for two singles, two doubles and a triple to score four runs. With one out Granzig doubled to left field and scored as Bill Morneweg singled to center. Morneweg took second on Wiesler's wild pitch and scored as Jeski singled to center field and the catcher dropped the throw in. Dick Kemper then stepped into a fast one for a triple to center field sending Jeski home and came in himself as Kuhlman doubled down the left field line. Sparger was safe on the second baseman's error but died on first as the next two batters were out.

Final Tally for Marion

Marion's final tally came in the eighth as, with one out, Granzig and Morneweg walked, Jeski singled to center and Kemper singled to right scoring Augie from third. Kuhlman struck out and Sparger grounded out to end the locals' mild uprising.

Tonight Marion plays Lima again, hoping for their first victory in the series. Sunday they journey to Mansfield for a single-game series and return home Monday to meet Zanesville under the lights. Tonight's game is slated at 8:15.

Bagby, Who Turned Thumbs Down on Tribe, Mainstay Now

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Bagby who once vowed he'd never pitch another game for Cleveland under Manager Lou Boudreau stood out as the man who may boost the Tribe into the thick of the pennant scrap.

When Bagby joined the Merchant Marine after last season, he said he was through with Cleveland. But after being rejected by the draft earlier in the week, the 17-game winner of '42 and '43 hustled to the Tribal wigwam and last night stopped Philadelphia with five hits as Boudreau's Indians took a 4-1 decision over Luke Hamlin to sweep the series.

Take Turns

While the Yankees and Browns took turns knocking one another's brains out, without disturbing St. Louis' 2-game margin, Cleveland and Detroit made motions toward serious contention. The St. Louis-New York series ended yesterday when Atley Donald outpitched Al Hollingsworth for an 8-2 Yank victory and an even break.

Detroit took four straight from Washington, All by one-run margins, to keep pace with Cleveland in a fourth place tie, 1½ games back of Boston and 5½ off the top. Dizzy Trout captured win No. 13 at the expense of reliefer Early Wynn of the Senators as Roger Cramer hammered home two Detroit runs and scored the other in a last of the ninth rally for a 6-5 score.

Boston lost ground by falling before Chicago, 5-3, for the second time in 14 starts.

Harry Brecheen shut out the New York Giants, 5-0, to help the Cardinals move another step toward an early flag in the National. Johnny Hopp and Ray Sanders spanked home runs.

Dodgers in Cellar

Brooklyn's losing slump finally dumped the Dodgers into the basement, tied with Boston, after dropping a 3-2 game to Cincinnati's Ed Heusser.

Max Butcher boosted his win streak to five although the Phils outhit the Pirates. Pittsburgh won the 5-3 night victory.

Dom Dallessandro's two-run homer in the eighth broke a 2-2 tie for Chicago's 4-2 margin over the Braves after Bill Nicholson's 16th round tripper had given Chicago an early lead.

KENTON TEAM WINS

Special to The Star

KENTON, July 22—The Champion softball team added another scalp to the season's string when Wapakoneta Redskins fell, 10 to 8, in a heavyhitting game on the local field. Dr. George Pleasant was the big noise for Kenton with a home run and a double, which scored three men, in three times at bat. Grant Holycross gave up 11 hits while Pitcher Layton of Wapakoneta was nicked for 13 bingles.

Players Call Marion Club's Lighting System One of Best in O. S. League

The Marion baseball club can boast of having a set of lights as good, if not better than any club in the league, according to players on the local club.

The management brought the lights here from Tiffin where they had been used by that city's entry in the old Ohio State league. The arrangement of the [illegible] been changed [illegible] Tiffin's plan as [illegible] three [illegible] the lights [illegible] coverage of [illegible].

According to Judge J. Dewey Haven, Marion has [illegible] are 120 bulbs in 60 [illegible] each bulb having 1,500 [illegible] This gives approximately 2,000 watts as a new type bulb, now used, increases the wattage 10 to 12 per cent.

In hooking these lights up a line was strung from the main voltage line along the Pennsylvania railroad to a 20 KVA transformer which reduces the voltage from 13,200 volts to 2,300 volts and from there to the separate poles.

Thursday night's game started in daylight but at the beginning of the last half of the first inning Umpire Nor is motioned for the arms to be turned on. Larry Axe, Dick Law and Buck Mills then walked to the transformer down third base way and turned on the lights. At first it didn't change things a whole lot but as it got darker they really lighted things up making it almost like daylight.

INDIANS NOW OUT OF ASSOCIATION CELLAR

By The Associated Press

The Indianapolis Indians had occasion to war-whoop gleefully today after terminating their long-term lease on the American Association cellar.

By dividing with the second-place Columbus Red Birds last night while Kansas City was dropping a pair to St. Paul, the Tribe crawled over the Blues into seventh place by a one point margin.

Pace-setting Milwaukee kept seven and a half games ahead of the Red Birds by splitting with Minneapolis. St. Paul's double win over Kansas City, 8-1 and 10-2, gave the Saints a record of 11 victories in their last 12 starts against the Blues.

In the evening's fourth twin bill, Louisville spanked Toledo twice, 2-0 and 13-2, to hoist the Colonels to within a game and a half of the third place Mud Hens.

Indianapolis won its finale with Columbus, 6-3. In the seven inning opener, Jack Creel weathered a 10-hit Tribe attack and hurled Columbus to a 5-4 victory.

Greg Lippold outpitched Julio Acosta to give the Millers a 2-1 decision over Milwaukee in the first game, but in the finale the Brewers cut loose with a 20-hit attack, including Bill Nagel's 23rd homer, to triumph 15-1.

MARION PATROLMAN FINISHES FBI COURSE

14 Weeks' Training Completed by Officer McClenathan.

Patrolman Zenas G. McClenathan of 237 Chase street was graduated today after completing a special 14-week training course with the FBI National Academy in Washington, D. C.

William E. Marks, Marion police chief, and John V. Ruth, safety-service director, attended the ceremony.

McClenathan, the first patrolman to be sent from Marion, was one of 38 police officers receiving diplomas. The class represented 24 states and Newfoundland.

Special emphasis was placed upon instruction in law enforcement problems arising in connection with the war and extensive training was given on crime prevention. Lectures on juvenile delinquency were included in the work in addition to scientific and technical proceedings, statistics, records and report writing, firearm and first aid training, investigations and other subjects associated with police work.

After returning to Marion, Patrolman McClenathan will act as instructor for the department.

OPA CUTS NICKEL OFF PRICE OF OATS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 22—The office of price administration yesterday trimmed the ceiling price of oats at all sales levels an average of five cents a bushel in production areas.

The reduced prices, effective July 26, will reflect full parity to farmers, OPA said. At the production level, the revised ceiling replace Nov. 3, 1943, "freeze" prices.

The lower ceilings are contained in a new master grain regulation which also establishes a uniform mark-up of $4 a ton on sales of oats as well as other grains by retail stores.

Engineer Depot's War Bond Total Hits $73,000 Mark

At the completion of the fourth week of the Fifth War Loan drive at the Marion Engineer Depot, the committee reported that $73,000 in bonds have been purchased by employes.

This surpasses over $30,000 the total achieved in the Fourth War Loan drive. However, the committee is still working to increase the final total.

This past week individual bond purchases of $5,000 and several $1,000 were made by employes.

The War Bond committee composed of military and civilian personnel of the Marion Engineer Depot are as follows: Lt. J. W. Mathis, War Bond officer, Lt. James W. Cox, Mrs Lillian B. Moser, chairman, Naomi Cram, Jessie McAfee, Roseline Manzo, Anita Ruth, Rachel Phickebaum, Dorothy Behrens, Helen Connolly, Leanore I. Redding, Maxine Lusch, Floyd Wertz, Ike Gustin, John Sappington, Clyde Berridge, Jack Biggerstaff, Tom Fitzgerald, Vinton Raymyer and Goldie Clewell.

DECISION GIVEN IN SOLDIER BALLOT CASE

By The Associated Press

WARREN, O., July 22—Common Pleas Judge Lynn B. Griffiths held yesterday that the clerk of the board of elections is the only agent legally authorized to issue applications for absentee soldier vote ballots.

The court directed the Trumbull county board of elections, however, to provide such applications upon request of any relatives of soldiers listed in the Ohio act or anyone delegated by such relatives to obtain an application for them.

The rulings were made in connection with a mandamus action initiated by prosecutor Paul J. Reagan after the board of elections refused to accept blanks not furnished by the board. The mandamus was filed at the request of Mrs. Eva Watkins of Niles, state agent for the Blue Star Mothers of Ohio, who contended members of the group were denied soldier ballots.

Judge Griffiths recommended that application forms printed locally and distributed by organizations be turned over to the board of elections for its use.

"The act should be liberally construed," he said, "to accomplish its aims and purposes On the other hand the bars of the election laws must not be so lowered that the board of elections loses complete control of the management and supervision of the election."

PRINCETON, N. J., July 22 — Nearly five out every [illegible] in the country have either war bonds or [illegible] help support the war [illegible] are still more than [illegible] families who have not [illegible] bonds or stamps as [illegible]

[illegible] ascertained by the In- [illegible] a nation-wide survey in [illegible] reporters asked the [illegible]

[illegible] you bought any war [illegible] stamps as yet?"

[illegible] estimate on the half [illegible] families which the Bu- [illegible] Census estimates are in [illegible] today, the Institute [illegible] following results to the [illegible]

Have Bought War Bonds or Stamps (Approximately 25,000,000 families)	82%
Have Not Bought War Bonds or Stamps (Approximately 6,000,000 families)	18

[illegible] might be expected, those in [illegible] occupations, with lower [illegible] show the greatest per- [illegible] of non-buyers, but even [illegible] business and professional groups about one in every eight has not yet bought a single bond or stamp.

This is shown in the following table giving the percentage of buyers and non-buyers by the kind of work they do.

	Buyers	Non-Buyers
Professional and Business	88%	12%
White Collar	88	12
Skilled and Semi-Skilled Workers	83	17
Unskilled	73	27
Farmers	80	20

The largest groups of non-buyers are to be found in the farm areas and in the small towns of the nation—those with a population under 10,000. This is shown as follows:

	Buyers	Non-Buyers
Farms	80%	20%
Towns Under 10,000	80	20
Towns and Cities 10,000 to 100,000	87	13
Cities 100,000 or over	84	16

As of today, the treasury estimates that there are about $22.- billion dollars worth of 1 bonds outstanding, with figures on the Fifth War Bond Drive still coming in.

BOY WITH RARE BONE AILMENT IN HOSPITAL

New Type of Treatment Considered for Robert Orth, 10.

Suffering from a rare type of bone infection, a Marion boy who has been under observation and care of various physicians here and in other cities entered City hospital Thursday for a type of treatment developed only recently. He is now under the care of a local physician.

Robert Orth, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernoll Orth of 327 South Main street, suffered an injury to his left arm three years ago and since that time his parents have sought aid far and wide for the disease. A new treatment developed by medical research in the last few months will be used in an attempt to effect a cure provided tests not yet completed indicate its use is desirable.

Robert will be in the hospital possibly a week or two, the physician said today. His condition was described as "fairly good."

BAPTIST ASSOCIATION GROUP MEETING HELD

One hundred and seventy-one women representing nine churches attended an all-day meeting of the Women's Missionary Societies of the Marion Baptist association held Thursday at the LaRue school building.

Mrs. Irma Myers is president of the association.

In the morning session devotions were led by Mrs. Mabel Debolt of LaRue. Committee chairmen gave reports. Mrs. Wagner, reading chairman, reported that Fite Memorial has first place in reading, with Green Camp second and Grand Prairie and West Mansfield tying for third place.

Miss Jean Lund of the Baptist Community House in Dayton gave the morning address. Dr. Warren P. Behan of Trinity and Rev. C. B. Jones of Fite Memorial, new pastors, were introduced.

Rev. Charles W. Harmon of Green Camp announced the association meeting to be held in September at Prospect. Reports were made by several members who attended Camp Pittinger June 6 to 8.

A potluck dinner was served at noon.

In the afternoon session Mrs. Christina Reed of the Springdale church led devotions. The banner committee awarded first place in attendance to Springdale, second to Grand Prairie, third to Radnor. Mrs. Milan Gorby of Trinity church, Marion, was given an award for having the highest number of points in individual reading.

"Unto the Least of These," a one-act play in three scenes, was given by the Richwood members. Taking part were Mrs. Rachel Russell, Mrs. Giles McDaniels, Mrs. Lloyd Matteson, Mrs. B. J. Langstaff, Mrs. Everett Wheaton, Mrs. Earl Bumgarner and Mrs. O. C. Young. Maxine and Colleen Brown and Lewis Clark sang between the scenes. The play was directed by Mrs. Young.

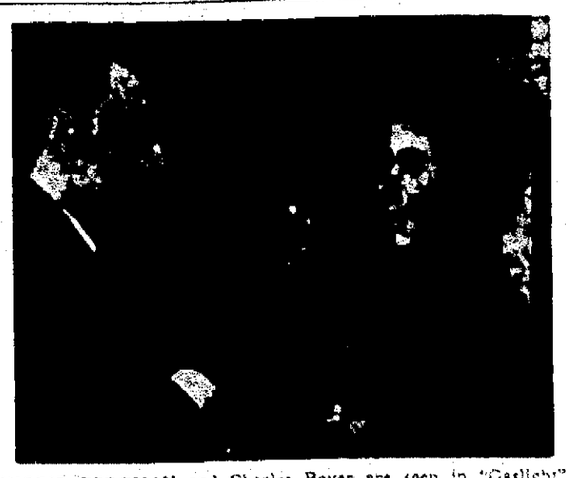
Music for the morning and afternoon sessions was supplied by the following soloists and groups: Maxine and Colleen Brown of Meeker, vocal duets; young people from Grand Prairie church, vocal music; ladies' quartet from Springdale, vocal music; Lewis Clark of Grand Prairie, vocal solos. An original poem was read by Mrs. Mabel Debolt of LaRue. The meeting closed with a prayer by Rev. Jones.

Johnny Long Orchestra Booked at Cedar Point

Johnny Long and his orchestra, featuring Patti Dugan and Gene Williams, will be at Cedar Point's Grand Ballroom Friday and Saturday, July 28 and 29, for the dancing and listening pleasure of the Point's visitors.

It was back in 1931 when Johnny Long was a freshman at Duke University that he put together his orginal band made up of first year men, all of whom had been high school pals of the popular leader. This eleven-piece band put themselves through school with the money they earned, and a dozen years after, six of the original gang are still together, some only left to join the armed forces.

The Johnny Long band now has 14 members as well as pretty Patti Dugan and handsome Gene Williams, featured vocalists.



INGRID BERGMAN and Charles Boyer are seen in "Gaslight" showing Sunday through Wednesday at the Palace theater.

Trio of Stars Heads Cast Of 'Gaslight,' Palace Feature Film

Ingrid Bergman, Charles Boyer and Joseph Cotten in Mystery Drama of London Life.

"Gaslight," starring Ingrid Bergman, Charles Boyer and Joseph Cotten, will be shown at the Palace theater Sunday through Wednesday.

Set against the colorful background of London of the 1880's, "Gaslight" is a drama of romance, suspense and thrills. It relates the story of a beautiful young singer, played by Miss Bergman, who marries her accompanist, (Charles Boyer). They move into the London house where her aunt, a famous singer in her day, was mysteriously murdered. Deliberately, Boyer sets out to drive his wife insane for purposes of his own.

The suspense and drama rise to an exciting climax when Joseph Cotten, as a Scotland Yard man, becomes interested in the unsolved murder case and steps in to untangle the mystery and save Miss Bergman from the Machiavellian tricks of her husband.

"Lost Angel," starring Margaret O'Brien, James Craig and Marsha Hunt, is scheduled for Thursday through Saturday.

Margaret stars a child who is raised as a prodigy by a group of professors and thinks she is happy until an irresponsible reporter, played by James Craig, enters her tiny sphere and captures her imagination with a promise to show her magic. The result is an evening's fun for all when the super intellectual child sets out and challenges him for proof. And when circumstances force Craig to keep the child for a few days events begin to pop. Craig learns a valuable lesson which enables him to find happiness with his torch singer sweetheart, played by Marsha Hunt, and the young genius becomes a moral, healthy, happy child, aware of all the wonders of childhood.

Charles Laughton Picture in Double Feature at State

"Stand By for Action," starring Charles Laughton and Robert Taylor, and "Truck Busters," with Richard Travis and Ruth Ford, will share the bill at the Marion theater Sunday and Monday.

"Stand By for Action" tells of an old destroyer on convoy duty which successfully beats off Jap warplanes and destroys an enemy battleship.

"False Faces," with Stanley Ridges and Veda Ann Borg, and "Tarzan Triumphs," starring Johnny Weismuller and Frances Gifford will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Frontier Bad Man," starring Diana Barrymore and Robert Paige, and "Look Who's Laughing," with Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, will be shown Thursday through Saturday.

"Frontier Bad Man" tells of the smoking out of Texas cattle swindlers.

2 SOFTBALL GAMES SCHEDULED SUNDAY

All-Star Marion Team To Play Delaware Here.

Players on teams sponsored by the softball commission have been chosen to make up an all-star team which will play a double-header with Delaware tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the Lincoln park diamond. The contests promise to be thrillers as Delaware recently defeated the Ohio penitentiary team, one of the crack units of the state, by a score of 1 to 0.

Marion's all-stars will play under the Smitty's grill banner. Bill Darnell is manager for the Marionites.

Players who will represent Marion tomorrow and teams from which they were chosen are: Anderson, Armbruster and Millisor, Huber; Weiss, K. Somerlot, Cocherl and Wilcox, Sandwich Bar; Hart, Atkinson, Ried and Haas, Universal Cooler, Myers, General Excavator; Walters and Snyder, Marion Steam Shovel.

Marion batteries will be Millisor and Anderson; Weiss and Somerlot.

"Mark Twain" at Ohio Theater

Life Story of Beloved Author Stars Fredric March.

"The Adventures of Mark Twain," starring Fredric March and Alexis Smith, is showing at the Ohio theater now through Thursday at popular prices.

This is the story of the life of one of America's best loved authors—Samuel Langhorne Clemens, better known as Mark Twain.

Growing to manhood by the Mississippi river, he rafts on the river with his friends "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn." So much a part of the boy is the river that eventually it lures him away from the print shop of his brother and under the tutelage of Horace Bixby, Clemens learns to navigate the Mississippi. On his first trip down the river he meets Charles Langdon and falls in love with a photo of Langdon's beautiful sister. Vowing to himself he will one day marry her, he goes west to make money in mining. A failure at mining, he arranges a frog-jumping contest between his frog and Bret Harte's.

Efforts of an eastern literary agent to find Mark Twain are interrupted by the Civil war when Twain goes home to prevent his beloved Mississippi from being blockaded. The war ended, Twain finally goes to New York to lecture. He meets Langdon's sister and marries her.

"Roger Touhy, Gangster," starring Preston Foster, Victor McLaglen and Lois Andrews, will be shown for four days starting Friday.

"Roger Touhy, Gangster," is the story of gang lords, gun molls and black sedans of the thrill-swept thirties—the action-packed history of Touhy, from Public Enemy Number One to Number 8711, Joliet prison. The toughest of the tough, Touhy ruled his empire with the iron hand of terror.

Marion Girl With Red Cross Service Arrives in France

Miss Garnet Thomasson has arrived in France, according to word received by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Thomasson of 258 Olney avenue. Miss Thomasson is in charge of the American Red Cross unit attached to a fighter group which was recently transferred to France. It is the same group with which she worked in England. She is a member of the Arrow club, whose members constitute the first women's Red Cross group to land in France.

Miss Thomasson flew to France and has her own tent in the "officers' row" of the unit. The group of tents is situated in an avenue of trees still untouched by the war. The Red Cross unit includes a doughnut mobile unit.

She writes that French families are returning to their homes from their many and mysterious hiding places and are assisting her in administering to the American soldiers. She finds that her study of French in high school enables her to understand the people fairly well, although the adults are inclined to talk too fast for her complete understanding.

Apparently the Red Cross is well received in the battle areas. Miss Thomasson stated that it would have taken a two-and-a-half-ton truck to carry the amount of doughnuts requested by the American soldiers.

She also wrote that the Red Cross is allowed to make use of any furniture left by the Germans but none belonging to the French.

HANNEGAN REELECTED
By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 22—Robert E. Hannegan, the 41-year-old Missourian who served as President Roosevelt's agent at the Democratic national convention and helped make Harry Truman his running mate, was reelected chairman of the party's national committee today.

Marion Shows Bracken Film

On Bill with Betty Hutton in "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek."

"The Miracle of Morgan's Creek," starring Eddie Bracken and Betty Hutton, and "Four Jills in a Jeep," starring Kay Francis, Carole Landis and Martha Raye, will share the bill at the Marion theater midnight tonight through Monday.

"The Miracle of Morgan's Creek" tells of a mess uniform-crazy Betty gets herself into and if Eddie's heroic attempt to clear Betty even to his own detriment. The miracle occurs and the mess is cleared up.

"Four Jills in a Jeep" is a musical comedy dramatizing a visit of four movie stars to the fighting fronts in North Africa and England.

"Cry Havoc," starring Margaret Sullavan, Ann Sothern and Joan Blondell, and "Jane Eyre," starring Orson Welles and Joan Fontaine, will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Cry Havoc" is the story of the heroic nurses' aides who remained on Bataan during the days of the Jap invasion.

In "Jane Eyre" Miss Fontaine plays the role of the shy and wistful governess whose love for the moody, impetuous master of Thornfield Hall is stalked by mystery and terror.

"Call of the Jungle," starring Ann Corio, James Bush and Claudia Dell, and "Marshall of Gun Smoke," with Russell Hayden and Tex Ritter, are scheduled for Thursday through Saturday. The former concerns the theft of sacred pearls on an island in the South Pacific. "Marshall of Gun Smoke" tells of the cleanup of a gang attempting to prevent an election.

McCutchenville Woman Found Dead at Home

Special to The Star

SYCAMORE, July 22—Mrs. Ida May Spreng, 72, was found dead on the lawn of her home in McCutchenville yesterday at 11:45 a. m. by a son, Charles, who also lives there. The attending physician thought death had occurred about two hours previous to the discovery. She had been suffering from a heart ailment for a number of years.

Born Aug. 11, 1872 to John and Barbara Wikins Wood, she was married to the late Alfred E. Spreng.

Surviving with the son, Charles, are a daughter, Mrs. Oleta Feasel of Tiffin, a son, Pvt. John A. Spreng of Texarkana, Tex., and a step-daughter, Mrs. Fern Frideline of Jeromesville, O.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the residence and at 2:30 at the Reformed church with Rev. W. F. Kissel officiating. Burial will be in South Bend cemetery in McCutchenville. Friends may call at the residence Monday.

7,000 Attend Ashley Fair on Second Day

Special to The Star

ASHLEY, July 22—Ashley grange presented a "Swing Review" before a crowd of 5,000 at the Ashley fair last night. Paul S. Stevens, director of music in Ashley school, directed the review, in which children and adults took part. Included were tap dancing, and vocal and instrumental music. Music was also provided by the Ashley high school band.

Yesterday afternoon's attendance of 2,000 was the largest afternoon crowd of the fair.

Draft horses and dairy cattle were judged yesterday morning. Three races were held in the afternoon. A stock parade took place at 8 p. m. with the "Swing Review" beginning at 10 p. m.

The fair ended today. Beef cattle were judged this morning and three races were held this afternoon.

FRESH SELLING LOWERS STOCKS

Half-Hearted Recovery in Early Trading Period Fails To Hold.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 22 — The stock market suffered another stumble today when an early, half-hearted recovery sortie failed to attract a worthwhile following and fresh selling broke out in virtually all groups.

Initial small gains were raced in most cases and replaced with losses of fractions to 2 points or so near the close. Transfers ran to around 700,000 shares for the two hours.

Prominent on the offside were Santa Fe, Great Northern, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, International Harvester, American Telephone and Standard Oil (N. J.)

Two Martel Youths Injured in Accident

A head on collision at 8 last night at the intersection of Route 30 south and the Martel road resulted in injuries to two passengers, highway patrolmen reported today. James Jackson, 15, suffered a broken right arm and Charles Jackson, 17, sustained cuts and scratches about the face. Both are Martel residents. They were riding in the car driven by Howard C. John, also of Martel, when the car collided with another driven by S. L. Hirsch of Cleveland. The mishap occured just west of the Marion county line. The injured were taken to Caledonia where they were treated by a physician and released. Both cars were damaged considerably.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

WHOLE-HEARTED

Editor of The Star: I agree whole-heartedly with the young lady whose letter appeared in the Friday night Star. In the first place these four men should have respected the sailor, should have said, "Come on sailor, I'll treat you and your friends". After all, he is fighting in this war to make them a place to go and enjoy their freedom. These four men are not patriotic in any way, shape or form, nor do they have any respect for a man who may have to give his life for them.

In closing let me also add that I am a sailor's wife and mother of three children and that I could not even spend a decent evening taking our two oldest children and take in a picture show without young girls 16 years old or about whistling and belittling themselves and also embarrassing the sailor and his family. Yet it's always the service men who are at fault and not these street walkers or young bar flies.

I say, let's all civilians get together, men and women alike in all races and creeds and show these service men we are all out for them and what they are fighting for.

ANOTHER MORTIFIED MARIONITE.

GOOD WAR NEWS SENDS WHEAT DOWN

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 22 — Belief that internal strife may result in the sudden collapse of Germany prompted liquidation of grain futures and all markets showed a heavy undertone.

In late trading rye dropped to the lowest points in over two weeks and seven to eight cents below last week's highs. Liquidation was general, the market ran into stop loss orders and prices dropped sharply.

Wheat futures were under hedging pressure but most of the losses were attributed to the foreign situation and prospects for a large Canadian crop. At one time September wheat dipped to the $1.50 loan level.

Independent firmness of July oats indicated shorts were covering in preparation for the close of trading in that contract today. Available supplies of cash oats are small.

NAZI CONVOY RIDDLED

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 22—The RAF coastal command reported today that British Beaufighters had attacked an enemy convoy of 40 vessels off Helgoland, hitting four merchant ships with torpedoes two of which were left sinking, setting five escort vessels afire and damaging most of the other ships in the convoy.

CIO Mass Meeting To Be Held Here Sunday

A mass meeting for CIO members and friends will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. in the Eagles Hall on West Center street, Henry Johnson, local CIO representative for the union, announced today.

Howard N. Porter of Columbus, CIO director for District No. 24, which includes Marion, will report on the United Steelworkers of America case which has been heard and is now awaiting a War Labor Board decision.

Mr. Porter and union representatives from Washington will explain the 24-point program which would go beyond the Little Steel formula now in force regarding wage rates for workers.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

MY fantastic conjecture had become a certainty. Ever since I entered the hideaway my subconscious mind had been warning me that someone beside my father was within hearing, waiting for his word to come out into the open.

I knew, of course that he would let no employee, not yet any stranger, listen to our conversation. The distraction from that, obviously, was that some intimate friend of the family was near us, and the name which had flashed into my mind, and been dismissed again as an impossibility, was that of Jack Hackett, the orphaned "fourth or fifth" cousin, who had been brought up by my mother as her own son.

Playmate

I had no brothers, but I never had known the need of one, for no girl child ever had a more devoted playmate and guardian than I had in Jack Hackett. Unfortunately—or perhaps fortunately, else I might have mistaken sisterly affection for a much stronger feeling—I did not know that my little mother was dreaming of a future for me which should always include Jack; nor did I guess, when Jack went away for his first engineering trip to South America, that he parted with him that resolve to ask me to marry him upon his return.

It was during that first absence of Jack's that my little mother slipped away from me into eternity. With him so far away in the wilds of South America that no wire or letter was sure of reaching him, I experienced the awful loneliness of a daughter who has lost a devoted, understanding mother, the strongest, almost the only, interest in her life.

Despair

For days I could neither eat nor sleep, until I was too exhausted to withstand the forceful, loving dictums of Mrs. Stewart, my mother's best friend, and mine. She was the kindly, highly efficient owner of the rambling, old-fashioned Brooklyn mansion, always her home, but into which, in her later years of dwindling income, she received "paying guests."

My mother had lived in her house for years, following an illness which made it impossible for her to cope with the daily duties of home-keeping, and, of course, I had shared her suite. Jack also had a room at Mrs. Stewart's, and I learned afterwards that she had shared my mother's affection for him, and also her secret wish that someday Jack and I should join our lives.

Then I met Dicky, and the sun, moon and stars stopped in their courses while I was swept into the heights—and depths—of an obsessing love, of which I had not dreamed I was capable. Grief for my mother, nostalgia for the brother-cousin who had been my constant companion since childhood, every other emotion except those which swirled around the fascinating stranger who had come into my life were forgotten—though, later on, to be bitterly recalled.

Relieved

I think at first, Mrs. Stewart was too relieved at my recovery from what she and my physician had deemed a possible menace to my health, mental and physical, to be anything but glad at Dicky's advent into my life. And of course her lips were sealed concerning my mother's wish that Jack's future and mine should be joined, a wish that had not been breathed to me. It was not until many months later, when I sorely needed her comfort, that Mrs. Stewart voiced the wish that I had married Jack instead of the man who for many tempestuous years was my wholly lovable, generously protective and devoted, but sometimes irresponsible "Peter Pan."

Memories were swirling faster around me now; memories of years, crowded into the second that I stood looking at Jack's face. And of them all, none was clearer than that of the day when Jack came back from that South American trip. I had sent him a message about my mother's death, which by some miracle, he received and answered, and which had hastened his plans for coming home. But I had sent him no other letter, nor any announcement of my hasty marriage, and consequently was brought back to reality with a shock when I received a letter from him saying that he would be back in New York very shortly and wanted me to meet him at our favorite restaurant.

Atonement

With the feeling that I ought to atone for my silence by breaking the news of my marriage less abruptly than the sight of my wedding and engagement rings might do, I concealed them in my gloves, and before I could stop him, had heard his outpouring of long-pent-up love for me and his wish to marry me.

I do not want to remember the scene which followed. I would rather recall the later one, when Jack, after finding in Katharine Sonnot's love a happiness that transcended anything of which he ever had dreamed with me, had brought Dicky back to me after a tragic misunderstanding that almost ended our happiness.

I was glad to blot out, too, the long years of estrangement between Jack and Katherine, brought on first by his own temperamental upsets, stemming from his World War experiences, and later, by the machinations of Ruth Hayes, the "wilderness woman," sister of his partner. It was pleasanter to recall the final joyous reunion of my brother-cousin with the wife who for years had lived in my home as a sister and a devoted friend, and of their busy, happy lives since, marred now, of course, by their enforced separation due to the present war.

It was the last memory which was strongest when my brother-cousin strode forward from the doorway to which my father had summoned him, and smothered my patent surprise in the brotherly hug which has been his greeting to me after any absence since my childhood.

"Jack! How wonderful to see you!" I gasped. "What have you been doing, and how is Katharine?"

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Migraine Headache

MIGRAINE, regular recurren headache, sick headache, plagues about one out of every 200 people all their lives. It differs from all other headaches and can be recognized by four signs. (1) The victim begins to have "his," or "her," headaches (they are very possessive about their headaches: they can tell the migraine attacks from other ordinary headaches that may be due to bad air, overwork, eyestrain, etc.) at about the age of 15 to 20 and has them at recurrent periods, not necessarily regular periods for many years until change of life or old age stops them. (2) Aura, or premonition of the coming headache—light flashes, ringing in the ears, etc. (3) here is usually nusea and vomiting, which is why it is called sick headache. (4) A family history of migraine or allergy.

Innumerable remedies have been suggested for relief. Not one known to me works in every case. Most of the sufferers have their own personal way of avoiding or miligating the attack and these run the gamut of the drugs from aspirin and salts on up or down. Then there are water cures, electric cures, diet cures, and little tricks like taking a walk, or a cold shower, or going to a movie, all of which work for some one individual.

Probably the best of the drugs is ergotamine tartrate. Best because it works on a larger proportion of people, than any other single remedy ever suggested. It is estimated that it gives relief to 90% of migraine headaches. Its specificity is shown in the fact that it often induces a headache in those not subject to migraine.

Its action is generally ascribed to its ability to constrict the blood vessels inside the cranium. And theoretically this should work in migraine because the ache is pretty well proved to be due to dilatation of the blood vessels on one side of the head. This is shown by the flushing of one side of the face during an attack. And several examinations of the back of the eyes with an ophthalmoscope have shown the retinal vessels dilated in one eye.

Coltman reported a unique case in a person whose headaches were supposed to be due to a brain tumour and a surgeon cut a flap out of the skull. No tumour was found and the patient continued to have her migraine headaches. When she had one there was a marked bulging of the soft spot in her skull. When she was free of attack the soft spot was depressed.

Another remedy which has been suggested for migraine in the last two years is benzedrine sulphate. It has the same action as ergotamine in the constriction of blood vessels. The sufferer from chronic nose trouble often finds his best temporary relief in the inhalation of benzedrine put up in small metal tubes so the fumes can be sniffed. It shrinks the vessels and mucosa of his nose so that he can breathe freely.

It is absorbed when taken by mouth and has a general constricting effect on blood vessels particularly those of the head. It has a peculiar action on the brain cells, accelerating mental processes so that it is popular with those in the know who are going to take a final examination in something or other.

In a small group (18) of migraine patients Gottlieb, of the University of Iowa, found it gave relief to 67%. Thirty-three per cent of patients had the attacks aborted if they took the benzedrine early enough before the attack started.

A favorite theory about migraine is that it is a manifestation of allergy. The hereditary nature of both complaints is suggestive. Undoubtedly many with a migraine background have their attacks precipitated by some food to which they are allergic. Many of these patients can be desensitized by the use of histamine, as described in the June issue of the Annals of Internal Medicine. Histamine desensitization has been used in other forms of allergy.

These remedies should be given under medical direction and I have purposely refrained from giving dosage or methods of administration.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

K. B. W.—What is meant by a "compensatory pause" in the heart?

Answer: After the contraction of the heart muscle it has to rest in order to obtain oxygen from its blood vessels and to regain contractility—during this compensatory period it does not beat. It is simply the resting period between heart beats.
